Jade rental contract issue

Hey Jesse,

Yesterday, Kimberly from Jade called and was asking about GPS coordinates on a Heather Brown order, and Karla talked to her. While talking it was found out that Jade had the wrong building number on file. Apparently, we had to change the number in the new build (no clue why). Anyways, Kimberly is stating that we have to have a whole new contract to change the building number. We have never done that. We have always just contacted the rental company with the new number (as long as the same style of building is used and the money doesn't change).

Can you please speak with Doug regarding this issue? All they really need to do is fix their system with the correct number, and everything will be ok.

Please let me know how to proceed.

Thanks

Hey man just wanted to drop a line and see how you were doing. If I can ever help in anyway I'm there. Have a good new year big and good things are coming!!

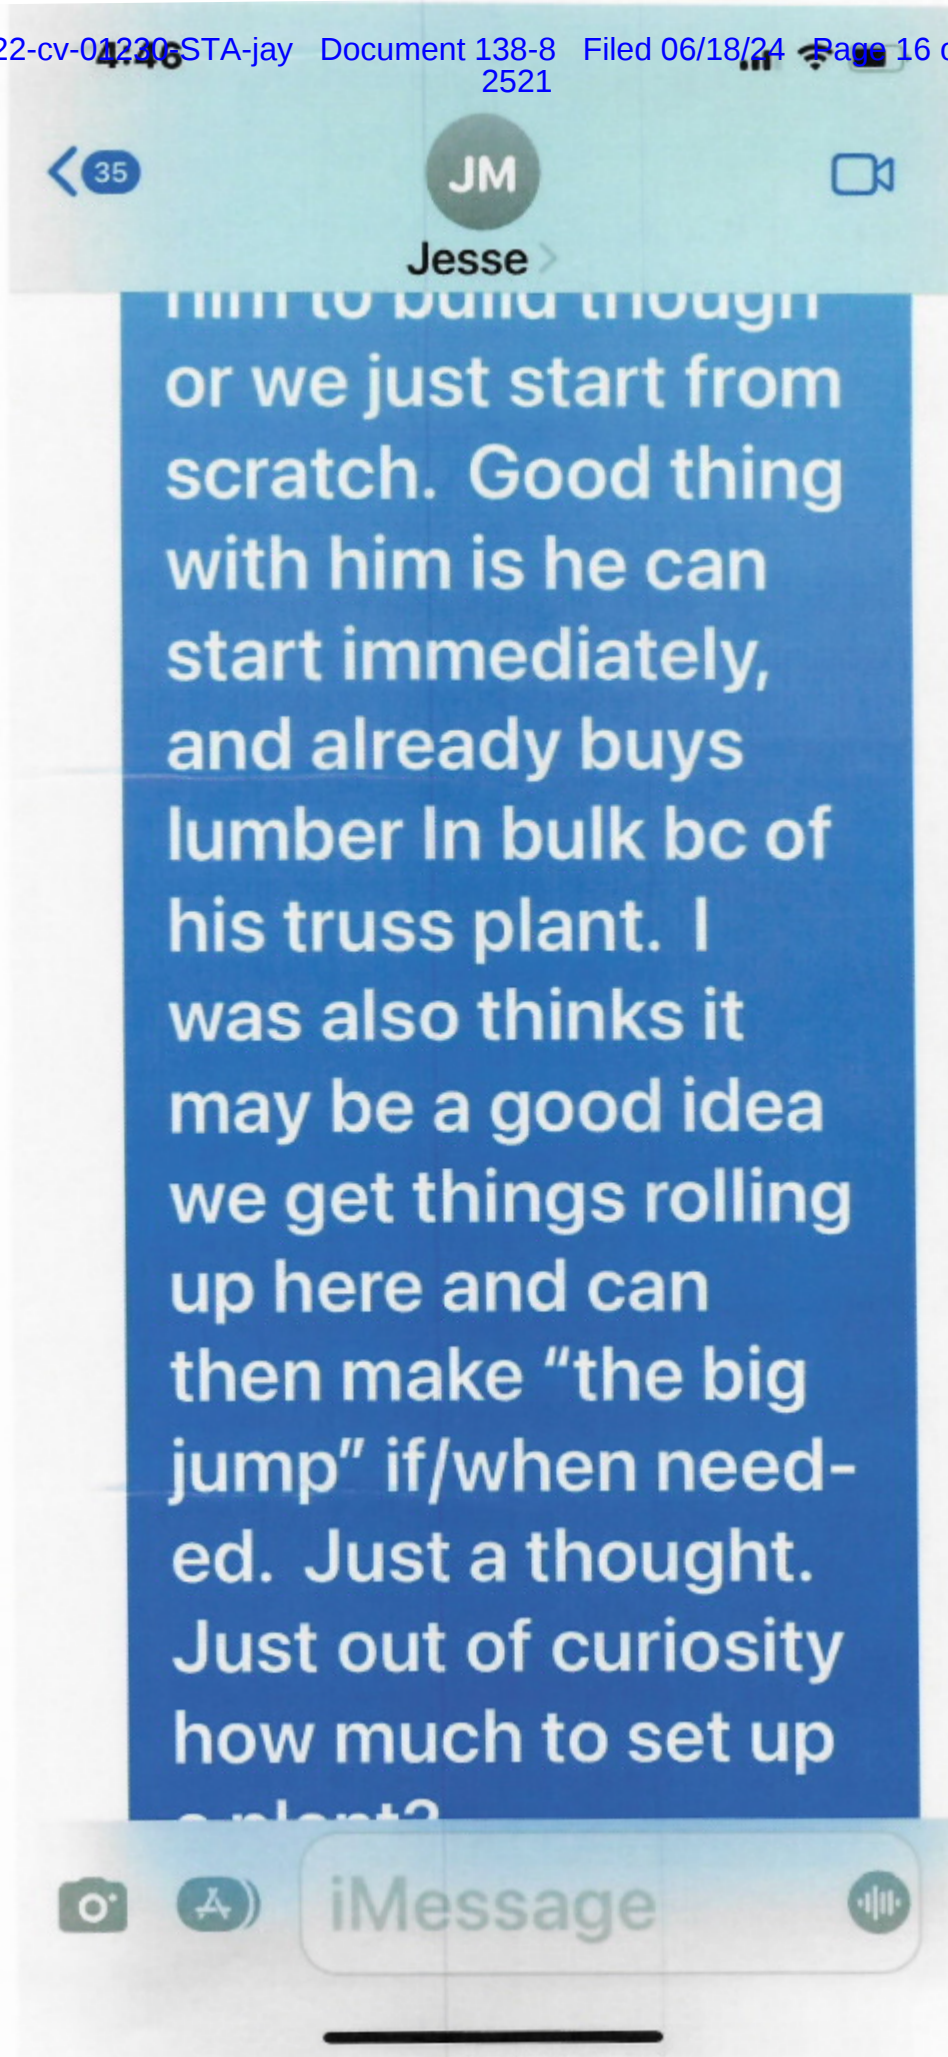

I'm doing good. Throat is soar from the radiation but I guess that has to be expected. We him to build though or we just start from scratch. Good thing with him is he can

start immediately,
and already buys
lumber in bulk bc of his truss plant. I was also thinks it
may be a good idea
we get things rolling up here and can then make "the big jump" if/when needed. Just a thought.
Just out of curiosity
how much to set up
plant?

is if they have to have a permit then we find out who got bldgs and then market to them to do a new contract with us. Never have to touch a bldg and can contact renters that are good risk.

The lots pull them permits because I'm supposed to since I am the qualifying party but I have written letters to the

Yes. I can send him to get them.

Ok I'm sending a check to Norman today so it'll be next week before they will be paid for

Ok. Be next week

Ok. Be next week
before he can go I'm going to guess. Not sure how bad this storm is going to be.
It was sleeting in Carterville when I came out of treatment but still about 36 air temp so it's not sticking. Later today is when it's supposed to get bad.
